GERMANS ADMIT DISASTROUS DEFEAT

900,000 Pounds of Raymond Sugar Now On Market

As a result of the run just concluded at the big refinery of the Knight Sugar company 900,000 pounds of Raymond sugar is on the market, and basing calculations on the orders now pouring in at the office from all parts of the west, it will not last long.

The campaign has been a short but successful one, and the sugar earned out of superior quality. Officials are well pleased with the run. There were as high as 90 men on the pay roll during the campaign and the only regret is that the supply of raw material is so limited.

Speaking to The Leader Manager Ellison stated that he had not entirely despaired of securing a supply of seed for next season, although the outlook at present was not very bright. Most of the seed comes from Germany and Austria-Hungary, and the European war clouds them to foreign trade even if they had the seed, which they will not have. The war will also seriously affect the U. S. beet industry, although they will likely have seed sufficient for 1915. A special endeavor will be made to procure seed, and a supreme effort will be made by the company next season to produce a large crop of beets. The sugar market is sure to be strong and prices high and it is the opportunity of a lifetime for all branches of Canadian industry to make a tremendous "scoop."

Mr. Ellison would say but little about the importation of raw cane sugar from the Indies, but it is not at all impossible that some of this material will be brought in. The Leader understands that the embargo has been removed by the government.

The Magrath Womens' Institute held a very successful flower show Wednesday.

Academy Opening Posponed

Supt. Cummings and Mr. W. A. Morton, of the General Church Board of Education, arrived in the city last Wednesday evening and they expect to spend four days in the Alberta stake and four days in the Taylor stake in the interests of the Knight Academy. It has been decided to postpone the date of the opening of the Academy until Monday, September 21st, in order that the faculty may accompany the visiting officials on their tour of the stakes.

The itinerary of the party is as follows:
Monday night, Taber.
Tuesday morning, Barnwell.
Wednesday evening, Magrath.
Monday night, Stirling.
Tuesday night a mass meeting of the two wards will be held in the first ward chapel.

Raymond Schneider has received a letter from his son who is in Europe on a mission, and the communication states that the officers are well. He is in Lucerne, Switzerland, and is good health, although their missionary activities have been suspended almost wholly. The parents of Junius Anderson who was in Germany when hostilities broke out have not heard a word from him for two months, and much anxiety is felt. The recent announcement of President Smith that all of the missionaries in Germany were safe is reassuring.

Mrs. V. L. Tanner and Mr. L. Gibb were the principal artists in a concert at Magrath Friday evening.

KAISER WILLIAM, of Germany, whose army is falling back before the Allies.

Conjoint Meeting of M.I.A.

Last Sunday evening the regular monthly conjoint meetings of the M. I. A. were held in the two local wards. At the first ward the meeting took the form of a singing school, and the following program was rendered:
Sketch of composer's life, Miss Uwarda Knight.
Comments on his hymns, Mrs. Anderson.
Duets, Mrs. Snow and Mrs. Nalder.

Talk on Congregational Singing, N. L. Mitchell.
Talk, Mrs. J. G. Alfred.
Reading, Mrs. Tanner.
At the second ward the program was as follows:
Lecture, "Overcoming Obstacles," Elder T. O. King.
Piano solo, Mr. Mitchell.
Current events, F. C. Steele.
Violin and cornet duet, Lief Ericson and Octave Urenbach.
Lecture, Miss Ida Ericson.

Mrs. Gordon and Misses Walton, MacCarthy and Ericson last night attended a Mutual ward conference at Stirling.

Lieutenant Inspector Mercer, of Magrath, spent Thursday in the city arranging for a dormitory for the Magrath students who will attend the Academy.

The Presbyterian Sunday School opened for the fall and winter last Sunday. The Ladies' Aid are giving a social in the church tonight.

WANTED TO BUY—young cattle, beef type. Write me what you have and price.
H. A. Walter,
Spring Coulee.

Mrs. Summerville appeared in the Rex theatre Friday night and delivered a stirring lecture on the Social Evil. The moral conditions of such cities as New York and Chicago were glaringly exposed, and the laws and law makers severely arraigned. The address was followed closely by a good sized and large.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11—Reports from Berlin state that the German War Office admits defeat on Marne River.

An official statement from General Von Stein to this effect has been received. 60 guns were captured by the Allies and thousands of prisoners.

According to London official advices the allies have gained a total of 35 miles and are now in strong position on Marne River. Their strength is 1,600,000 men.

Servians defeat Austrians in bloody battle opposite Belgrade.

Wounded Austrians from Battle of Lemberg report that three whole battalions cut off from main army, were slaughtered by the Russians. Only 50 escaped.

Miss Hounle Love returned Tuesday evening from Blairmore and Macleod where she spent a most delightful holiday with friends. While inspecting the famous Frank slide her foot accidentally slipped and she sustained a very painful fall. No serious injuries however resulted.

Labor Day passed off very quietly in the Sugar City. Those who did not attend the sports at Lethbridge either enjoyed a hunting trip or a rest at home. Several parties brought home some heavy bags from the ridge.

Raymond athletes did very well at the labor day sports at Lethbridge. L. P. Skouson took the 100 yard dash and the 440, and Reed Card carried off third honor in the latter event. The local track team won second place in the three men relay, with the Y. M. C. A. first. The sports were a distinct success.

Threshing was interrupted Monday and Tuesday by the rainstorm. Wednesday morning it was resumed. There are some very good yields being reported this year. Arthur Dahl threshed 3067 bushels, some of his crop yielding 35 bushels to the acre. Schumier brothers of Welling, also did very well. They averaged about 28 bushels to the acre. This was on irrigated land however.

W. Petrick and Horace Yenney of Calgary, but formerly of this city where they were employed in the Bank of Montreal, were visitors to the road for Calgary wholesale houses.

Fred Karren, travelling agent for the John Deer Plow company, was a business visitor to Raymond Monday. Fred gave a number of patriotic orations on the street while in the city.

The telephone gang that has been installing the rural line through the southern district, moved this week to Taber.

Letters received from Raymond boys in the army state that they are drilling hard down in Valenciennes but thus far have received no orders for overseas service. P. V. Stewart-Smith has been promoted to a lance corporal.

The Ogilvie Milling company has purchased Heminger's elevator at Welling. Frank Forsythe, of Magrath, is in charge. James Neilson of the Ellison Milling company, reports that threshing in the Welling district is general. There is some fine milling wheat coming in.

The Love of Country

By Sir Walter Scott.

Breathe there the man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land!
Whose heart hath ne'er within him burned
As home his footsteps he hath turned
From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well;
For him no minstrel raptures swell!
High though his titles, proud his name,
Despite those titles, power and pelf,
The wretch, concentrated all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown
And doubly dying, shall go down
To the vile dust, from whence he sprung,
Unwept, unhonored and unsung.

The Farmer's Opportunity.

This is a very critical period in the history of the world. With Europe enveloped in war the food production of the nations involved will be wholly or partially cut off, and they must of necessity look elsewhere for their supply. Russia, Austria-Hungary and Germany are all enormous producers of wheat. They are prime factors in the war, and the terrible drain on the male population of the rural districts to keep the lines at the front intact, will naturally mean that the farms will go untended. The supply of flour and meat, the basic elements of human sustenance, must therefore be drawn from America.

This is the golden opportunity of the Canadian farmer. It is a chance that may never occur again this century. The price of wheat next year will undoubtedly soar to unprecedented heights. It may even assume the phenomenal figure occasioned by the boom conditions during the Crimean War, when wheat sold for $1.80 a bushel.

According to the Canadian Courier, a reliable Toronto weekly, there are in the Dominion 800,000 farmers. If these men were to sow an additional ten acres of wheat each, the increase in wheat production would be 8,000,000 acres. At twelve and a half bushels to the acre the wheat crop of Canada would be increased by 100,000,000 bushels. Is the task too great?

No. It can be done with comparative ease. Then too, the increase in wheat production will naturally be accompanied by an increase in the production of other crops, such as corn, oats, barley, beef, pork and mutton. Add to this sugar, beets, an important local product, and the outlook for a most remarkable year for our farmers is unusually rosy.

Then there is another aspect. The only possible danger to Great Britain is the lack of food. This is of supreme importance. What greater service could be rendered the Motherland than assuring her of her foodstuffs for the trying months of 1915-16. This is a practical and commendable way of showing our loyalty to the Empire, and should commend itself to every patriotic citizen.

The time to prepare is NOW. A prominent business man, Manager Prest, of the Merchants' Bank, suggests that a public meeting be held, and that capable men be secured to give addresses. He added that he would bear his portion of the expense attached to the same. This is a splendid suggestion. The Leader is in full sympathy with it.

Editorial Notes

The tide seems to have turned in favor of the Allies and the troubles of the Kaiser increase. Let 'em come.

The way to combine loyalty with business is to sow ten or twenty more acres next year and raise a dozen more hogs. There will be millions looking to Canada for food and they must have it at any cost.

It is wonderful what a little money spent in paint, and a little time in applying it, will do in the way of improvement around your home.

Worn floors can be made to look bright and fresh—dingy furniture made as good as new—cupboards and shelves made clean and sanitary—dull woodwork and doors, bright and clean—and the walls instead of being covered with faded, dust-collecting wall paper or streaky and shabby kalsomine, can be made artistic and sanitary. Here are the special Sherwin-Williams products that will do all this for you at small expense.

For your floors use S-W Inside Floor Paint for a durable painted finish, or S-W Floorlac for an attractive finish imitating all the popular hardwoods such as Oak, Mahogany, etc.

Refinish your furniture with a coat of S-W Varnish Stain, a combination of a permanent pigment stain and a durable varnish, which renews the old furniture in such colors as Mahogany, Oak, Rosewood, Walnut, etc. S-W Floorlac can also be used for the same purpose.

Cupboards, shelves, painted baseboards, doors, and wainscoting can all be finished handsomely with S-W Family Paint, a durable oil paint made in twenty-one attractive colors, easy to keep clean.

The best finish for walls is Sherwin-Williams Flat-tone, a durable oil paint that dries with a soft, velvety flat effect. It is made in 24 colors that are the choice of expert decorators. It is very durable and will last for years and can be washed with soap and water, without injury.

HERE KIDDIES SMILE IN KEWPIE STYLE

HERE they are! A whole row of them as smiling and cute as Rose O'Neill's Kewpies. Unlike the Kewpies, these kiddies are clothed in something besides a smile. No matter where the midsummer vacation is passed—at the mountains, in the country, by the sea-shore or quietly at home—these are the suits and dresses the kiddies will wear.

The quaint Kate Greenway clothes for both boys and girls are favored again by kiddie fashion. The shy little chap at the extreme left is clothed in one of these. The tiny blouse is made of white lawn, trimmed, as of course all blouses and cuffs, with the little white bows. The blouse is buttoned to the top with large ornamental pearl buttons. There is no rubber in the bottoms of the trousers to tease the little man's fat legs.

The jaunty little maiden next to him also is clothed according to the Kate Greenway idea. The high waist line and puffed sleeves of hand embroidered lace is particularly charming for a party gown. The short waist is held in place by a cording of taffeta; the square cut neck is outlined by a banding of the same embroidery.

The boy next pictured next to the Kate Greenway maiden is attired in one of the popular blouse suits. For the new lot these blouses are used quite as much as the Kate Greenway models. As pictured here it was built of figured batiste trimmed with real Valenciennes edging. The tiny skirt is cut on the bias and ripples prettily from under the overhanging blouse. There is a dash of taffeta to match the pink roses in the material, and the white socks are also pink striped. The tiny little hat is made of pink taffeta and fairs out in the back like a Greenway's helmet. The crown is softly gathered, and the band around it is prettily finished by rosettes made of the silk.

The gown pictured next to the figured batiste is of pearl colored linen trimmed with old blue linen bands with a double cording of black. The bolero suspenders, collar and cuffs are of the blue. The suspenders are buttoned front and back with large white mother-of-pearl buttons. The skirt is attached to the long waist and is arranged in large bow plaits.

Next comes an absolutely unique development of a boy's suit. The material is of blue flannel. Blouse and hat, cuffs and tie the suit is quite all trousers are buttoned together in Kate Greenway fashion. With white collars things removed it resolves itself into a perfectly good bathing suit. Such a suit would be invaluable at the seashore.

The last smiling kiddie in the row is wearing a somewhat modified Kate Greenway frock. This gown is built of figured batiste. The kimono sleeves and yoke are eddy outlined with bands of Valenciennes insertion and shaped ruffles of silk. The skirt seems a trifle scant, but some mothers like these severely plain skirts.

FASHION IN GLOVES

IN Paris and London well dressed women never go out of the house in the daytime unglowed. In Paris, however, the fashion of leaving gloves off for evening still prevails. In London gloves are worn to the opera.

For morning wear the chamois or domestic mannish glove with one or two large buttons is the proper thing. Domestic is really the better fabric of the two, as it washes well.

For more dressy wear with tailored suits rather heavy kids in white or delicate biscuit color are popular. They are made with two buttons. For full dress wear studs is used almost exclusively, and the newest craze is for the black colored suede gloves which fit the arms loosely. To Americans who are used to a certain senseness at the wrist line this looseness may appear ungainly, but it is French, and like all things foreign, it has a certain fascination on a pretty hand and arm.

Chic Outing Blouse a Summer Standby

WORN with a tailored suit and a jaunty hat the crepe de chine blouse is as useful as it is attractive. An attractive blouse of pink crepe de chine is this one with its lengthy row of white ball buttons.

The Sleeping Porch Fad

IT is quite true that the American people have been and are at times subject to the craze fads ever heard of, but among the many useless fads adopted in our country there occur occasionally one or two which prove of general benefit to mankind. One which has become very popular in the past five years and is of especial value is the sleeping porch.

Until recently no one ever heard of sleeping in the open except in the case of consumptives or campers. Then a short while ago some one had a flash of genius and asked if sleeping in the open were good for consumptives why was it not good for persons in normal health.

Gradually as the craze was accepted and slowly spread men and women all over the country began to utilize the tops of their verandas and all odd little porches for sleeping purposes.

After awhile the wicker furniture of the fad started to build sleeping porches to their homes. These were constructed more or less like ordinary rooms, with heavy roofs and walls, but the upper half of these walls was left open. The fittings in some of these outdoor rooms are as beautiful as those in any of the indoor rooms.

The benefit of this fad is so patent that it seems almost unnecessary to explain wherein it lies. To breathe the free, undisturbed air all night long is the most strengthening way to sleep, and it is safe to assert that no child brought up in a sleeping porch will ever have a tendency to weak lungs.

Young children who are accustomed to sleeping in the open should be started on their sleeping porch careers in the hottest weather and gradually worked up to the winter weather. In this way they become accustomed to the gradually increasing cold, and far from being dangerous for them to sleep in the open, it is highly healthful, but only under the above mentioned conditions. To put a young baby out on a sleeping porch for a cold night without any previous experience is quite enough to kill it.

Every suburbanite and country dweller should form the sleeping porch habit for herself and her children during the summer months. No matter how small a cottage the home may be, it is sure to have some kind of porch which can be utilized for this purpose.

For the city dweller, unhappily, the sleeping porch is an unachievable goal unless one happens to have the means to own a house. A great many of the brownstone houses have porches in the rear, usually on the third or fourth story. These can be utilized in the manner described by the owner of the house if it be a private home or by the occupant of the room if the house is let off in sections to outsiders. The uncovered porch is rather a disturbing place on account of possible rain, which may drench bedclothes and cut, but if our readers care to chance it they can easily protect their bedding from the wet by spreading large sheets of oilcloth over their cots. Then if they are awakened by rain pattering on their faces two minutes' time will and them safe indoors with their cots perfectly dry.

Willow Table Lamp

THE vogue for willow furnishings is still continuing, and from chairs, settees and bookcases, extend even to lamps and candlesticks. The lamp illustrated here is to be fitted for electric light.

TUNICS AND GIRDLES

Tunics of net and lace which fall in points are edged with some colored silk and the deep centre is often-aided by a second row of lace which ties at the knees. In one gown of white net a deep girdle of Roman striped ribbon tied in the back in a gigantic Japanese bow ruthlessly destroys all our traditions, and in another a bosom of taffeta says quite plainly, "The lingerie gown of 1914 has got to be worn up."

Very often the embroidery of net or tulle or organza is in color as, for instance, on an 1890 frock whose ruffled skirt and hem are brought out by blue needlework.

DEMIJOHNS FOR LAMPS

A COUPLE of wicker covered demi-johns are going to do duty this summer in a seashore bungalow as the bases of lamps. One of them received only a thorough cleaning before being pressed into service, and the other was treated to a coat of brown enamel paint. On the light one has been fitted a spreading wicker shade and on the brown a Japanese openwork shade lined with yellow flowered chintz. The latter will stand in the general living room, which is done in browns and buff, and the former will illumine the veranda from a wicker table at the window.

There is lots of inspiration in a concise, warm-blooded, optimistic letter. The editor had the pleasure of reading such an epistle this week. It was written by J.J. Allen, president of the United Drug company, the world's greatest whole sale druggists, and was directed to William Blair, the "Rosall" dealer in Raymond. It fairly bristled with good advice and encourage-our jobs. It's a time for caution but also a time for courage." He does not see commercial demoralization, as does the professional pessimist, but rather a strong, conservative attitude in trade circles.

"Cap" Bennett, a professional auto racer, was killed at Macleod on Labor Day, he being pinned between the steering gear and the body of his "broken car." In the midst of a race, in which he flitted with death, the steering gear went awry and came crashing down on his unfortunate man. His wife witnessed the terrible fatality.

GOOD BALANCE WHEEL FOR GRAIN CULTIVATION

Renewed Activity in Industrial Enterprises in Western Canada is a Healthy Sign

From various centres in Western Canada come accounts of renewed activity in industrial enterprises.
In Edmonton the Great West Garment Company reports that its factory in 1913 doubled its business as against 1912. The firm now employs 120 men and women and has a yearly pay roll of $75,000. Four travelling salesmen are on the road in Western Canada. The lines at present are short, overall, pants and workman's clothing.

Mr. J. B. Griffith, Secretary-Treasurer of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, says that plans are being made to enlarge the 1,500 barrel plant at Marlboro', Alta., by installing a fourth kiln, with a capacity of 500 barrels a day. The plant will be overhauled during the winter months. The company has 20,000 barrels of cement
on hand with orders for delivery during the next 90 days.

In Saskatoon the plant of the Northland Milling Co. at Fawcett is being equipped with machinery of the most modern type, costing about $50,000.
Work is stated to be progressing very favorably on both the flour mill and elevator. It is expected that the plant will be put in operation early in January.

In Medicine Hat and Redcliff nearly all the industries are running with a full staff, even under the adverse business conditions which prevail in various sections of the country. It is a striking fact that, in cities like Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Red-cliff, where manufacturing establishments have been built up under the stable trade policy which has existed for the past twenty years, the falling of business and the problem of unemployment have been less in evidence than anywhere in the West.

A sane industrial development is a good balance wheel for the exclusive grain growing policy which the Western farmers have followed during the past few years. The army of harvest hands, who are required to handle the grain crops of the West, must find employment in nearby towns during the winter months, and it is the building up of industrial centres, such as those referred to above, which will
"more than anything else to solve the labor problem which the Western farmer has to contend with every fall."

WESTERN CITIES GAIN

Milling Plants Increase—The Development of a Great Western Industry.

When the wheat and flour controversy was at its height, interviews were published with several large mills in which it was intimated that they would make no extension in their milling plants in Western Canada if free wheat and flour were granted by the Canadian Government.
These statements aroused some criticism and were not believed in many quarters. While it is impossible to state what would have happened under free wheat and flour, it has become abundantly evident that the millars are only too willing to expand as rapidly as their capital will permit, now that the free wheat and flour question has been disposed of to their satisfaction.

Numerous Large Mills

In addition to the Ogilvie mill which was completed in Medicine Hat last year, the Maple Leaf Milling Company have purchased a site and commenced operations on a large mill in the same city. Large mills are also going up in Calgary and in several other Western cities and towns. The Lake of the Woods Company has recently acquired the Medicine Hat Milling Company's plant at Medicine Hat, and Mr.
Hutchinson, the managing director,
states that plans are being rapidly
prepared in Winnipeg for the new mill which will probably be increased from 50 to 1,500 barrel capacity.

The development of the milling industry in Western Canada is one of the best assets for the mixed farming industry, as it will ensure a plentiful supply of mill feeds, which are essential to successful mixed farming. In addition it provides steady work at good wages for a large number of workmen, and coming at a time when the unemployment problem is staring nearly every Western community in the face, the advent of a number of new channels of employment will be very welcome.

Benefits For the West

While no one can state positively what advantage or disadvantage
would have accrued to the country under free wheat and flour, it seems safe to predict that under a stable policy of encouragement for home industries the West will gradually reap the full benefits which come from manufacturing development.

Colonel McHugh, President of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company,
in an interview spoke as follows:

"Now that the free wheat question is settled," declared the Colonel, "the Lake of the Woods Milling Company
is preparing to invest large sums of money in furthering the plans in Western Canada, to buy more wheat from the western farmers, and to grind it into flour on Canadian soil. This Company has always believed in the Canadian West, as is shown by the fact that it is the only large flour
company which has all its mills west of the Great Lakes, but, I say emphatically, that if the company thought that money was to be the policy of the Government, we would not invest another dollar west
of Port William."

THE NATION'S WELFARE BY ELBERT HUBBARD

"The Philistine" Comments on National Welfare—How Manufacturers
Help in This Matter

In a recent number of "The Philis-tine," of which Elbert Hubbard, the East Aurora philosopher, is editor, has this to say about the national welfare as increased by manufacturers.

The country that sells raw materials will always be poor, just as the farmer who sells corn, and not logs, will never lift the mortgage.

If you have a forest, and can work
it up into timber, chairs, lookcases
and violins you will make a deal more money than if you sell firewood.

The United States has one-tenth the population of the world. But we have one-third the wealth of the world.

The North American Indian had the raw stock, but they did not know how to use it. Our wealth comes from the ability to convert coal and iron-ore; lumber and steel bolts;
leather and shoestrings; paint and glue; rubber and steel.

So we have supplied the world
automobiles, shoes, farm implements,
locomotives, engines, brass castings,
machinery and manufactured commodities in a million forms.

And to-day there is being brought into America in payment for goods manufactured in the United States five thousand, five hundred dollars every minute for ten hours, three hundred days in the year—"The Philistine."
